Classroom Spotlight

Preschool is off to a great start! We are blessed with 27 three and four year olds in our play-based classroom this year! They are beginning to make friendships and are having fun together! So much learning and brain development happens when children play. This week, students have chosen to do a lot of painting and building – two favorite activities in our classroom. Our students are beginning to learn the Sign of the Cross, Guardian Angel Prayer, and Grace Before Meals. They are learning the rules and settling into the routines of Preschool like professionals!

We are excited to have Mrs. Katy Morris join our teaching team this year! Mrs. Morris has been a parent of Preschoolers for four years and has transitioned to the role of Preschool Aide seamlessly!

Principal Post

As we settle into the rhythm of a new school year, our students are beginning to move beyond the excitement of those first few days and into the important work of learning, growing, and building community together.

This week, students received their School Unity Bracelets—a simple reminder that each child at Queen of Angels is known, loved, and called to serve. When our students look down at that navy bracelet on their right wrist, I hope they remember that they belong here. They are part of something bigger than themselves, and each of them has an important place in our school community.

As we begin to dive more deeply into curriculum, assignments, and homework, I also want to encourage families to keep the lines of communication open with your child's teachers. Questions will come up! If something is unclear, if homework is becoming a struggle, or if you have a question or concern about what is happening in the classroom, please reach out directly to your child's teacher. Our strongest partnerships are built through early, open, and respectful communication.

Thank you for continuing to entrust your children to us. It is a privilege to walk alongside your family as we work together to ensure every student is known, loved, and served.

With gratitude,
Mrs. Kimball
